- b. Communication: Facilitating open dialogue between all parties to address challenges and opportunities.
- c. Sustainability: working together to create a resilient agricultural system that can withstand economic, environmental, and social pressures.

- a. Innovation: integrating modern farming techniques and technologies to increase productivity and sustainability.
- b. Education: providing farmers with the knowledge and skills they need to adapt to changing environments and markets.

Industry:

In this context covers the businesses and technologies that support agriculture, such as:

- a. Agribusinesses: companies involved in producing agricultural equipment, seeds, chemicals and other inputs.*
- b. Food Processing: factories that process raw agricultural products into consumer goods.*
- c. Agri-tech: Innovations like precision farming, and data analytics that help farmer, optimize their operations.*

Community:

The community includes everyone from local consumers to global stakeholders. It highlights the importance of:

- a. Local markets: encourage the consumption of locally produced goods to support regional economies.*
- b. Public engagement: Involving the community in agricultural activities such as farmers' markets, agricultural fairs, and educational programs.*
- c. Social responsibility: ensuring that agricultural practices are sustainable and beneficial to the environment and society.*
